NUMB. 2464

MONDAY, MAY 16. 1743.

Since our last arrived a Mail from Flanders,

Petersbourg, April 30.

U R Court finding that the Intrigues of a certain Crown has thrown the States of Sweden into such Confusion that no settled Resolution can be taken as to the Succession, have resolved to wave that Affair entirely, and have caused it to be intimated to the Swedish Plenipotentiaries, that instead of Abo, Helsingfors, or any Part of the Grand Duchy of Finland, the Czarina will give them 7.000.000 of Rubles towards indemnifying them from the Expenses of the War, on Condition they make a solemn Renunciation of that Province, and all its Dependancies; the rather, because the Inhabitants, partly out of Loyalty to the House of Holstein, and partly thro' Dread of the present Feuds in Sweden, are determined never to return any more under the Dominion of that Crown, unless the Bishop of Lubeck should be elected to the Succession, under the Guaranty of Russia. On Sunday last Count Ogin had a private Audience of her Imperial Majesty, and delivered his Credentials as Envoy Extraordinary from the King and Republick of Poland. The same Day the Empress was present at the Launching of an 80 Gun Ship, called the St. Paul, built in the Admiralty here. After the Ship was launched, her Imperial Majesty went on board, attended with a numerous Retinue, and all the Foreign Ministers, and supped there.

Ratisbon, May 14. We have a Confirmation of the intended Defeat of the Imperialists under the Command of General Count Minucci, with all its Circumstances, written by an Officer in Prince Charles of Lorrain's Army, and dated from Truffleren, where there is now an Austrian Garrison. This Letter was sent hither to be translated to Holland.

Truffleren, May 11, 1743.

I lay hold of this early Opportunity to inform you that we have ruined all the Enemies Schemes for this Year. On the 29th of last Month old Seckendorff was at Munich, and produced a Plan for passing the Inn with the Imperial and French Armies, and forming the Siege of Passau. The Disposition of the Forces had been made with this View, for the Prince of Conti had his Dragoons cantoned between the Iser and the Rotte from Deckendorff to Pfarkirchen, at a small Distance from thence. General Minucci (the ablest Officer in the Bavarian Service) lay with about 7000 Men to cover Braunau, and Veldt Marshal Seckendorff, with the rest of the Imperial Army, lay encamped on the Iser, having his Head Quarters at Landshut, in order to protect the Capital of Munich. By this Means there seem'd to be no Danger from Prince Charles, who had but 10,000 Men.

Baron Berenciau having surrounded Col. La Croix at Truffleren, where I am at present, on this Side the Rotte, the French, who to the Number of 9000, were posted between that River and the Iser, instead of advancing to his Assistance, deserted the Remainder of his Detachment at Pfarkirchen, and retiring continually, at last repass'd the Iser. By this Means, all La Croix's Troops on both Sides of the Rotte were made Prisoners of War on Wednesday last. On Thursday, at Break of Day, General Baronai was detached at the Head of the irregular Forces, to get between Erblach and Landshut, which he perform'd, and then Prince Charles, at the Head of his Forces, attack'd General Minucci in Front. The Battle lasted five Hours, and then the Enemy being forced on all Sides, broke and fled, and what follow'd was Slaughter. There are at least 2500 killed, and 1500 taken Prisoners. Old Seckendorff, as soon as he heard of La Croix's Misfortune, foresaw the Blow, and endeavoured to prevent it, but he came too late. The Bavarians behaved very well, the Hessians incomparably, the Palatines but indifferently. They are however sadly mauled; General Minucci, &c. are made Prisoners.

Our Forces are within 17 German Miles of Munich, and if the French don't immediately pass the Iser with at least 40 Battalions, and as many Squadrons, we shall infallibly force Seckendorff to quit Landshut, in order to join the French. In the mean time, there is an End of the Siege of Passau, and all their Schemes on this Side, unless M. Broglie (which is not likely) should pass the Iser, and march to give us Battle; and, in this Case, he would infallibly leave Stadthamhoff to fall into the Hands of Prince Lobkowitz, who is by far superior to any of his Lieutenant-Generals, and has even puzzled, by his Dispositions in the Upper Palatinate, both the Marshal himself, and the Count de Saxe.

P. S. We have this Moment News of Veldt Marshal Khevenhuller's passing the Inn with the whole Army. Frankfort, May 15. An Express from Munich has brought the Confirmation of General Minucci's being surprized, and entirely defeated. His Imperial Majesty is obliged to quit his Capital, but as yet it is uncertain, whether he will go to the Army, or retire to Augsbourgh. All the Country is open between Braunau and Munich; and there was a Report when the Post came from the last-mentioned Place, that a Body of Austrians, to the Number of 7000, had from Tyrol penetrated thro' Saltzbourg into Bavaria, and made themselves Masters of the Salt Mines at Rischendall. All that has been so confidently given out by the French, in regard to the March of the Auxiliaries, and the Declarations of the King of Prussia, prove false. The former are passing the Main with the utmost Expedition, and we are well informed here, that his Prussian Majesty waits only the Cession of Silesia by the Dyet of Bohemia, to inform the World what was stipulated in the Secret Articles of the Treaty of Breslaw. The Auxiliaries are already 50,000 strong, and they receive daily fresh Reinforcements.

Aix la Chapelle, May 16. Yesterday his Britannick Majesty's Regiment of Horse Guards, Blue, arrived in this Neighbourhood, and To-morrow General Honeywood, General of the Horse, will put himself at their Head, in order to cross the Rhine near Coblenz, and march with the utmost Diligence towards Frankfort. His Britannick Majesty's own Regiment of Horse, three Troops of Horse Guards, and General Ligonier's Regiment of Horse, will arrive here successively on the 17th, 18th, and 19th Instant, and march incessantly by the same Route.

Brussels, May 20. Our Governor has, by an Express, received from the Baron de Plettenberg at Ratisbon, a Letter from Prince Lobkowitz, with one inclosed from his Royal Highness Prince Charles of Lorrain, in relation to the late Victory; which runs thus:

Letter from his Royal Highness Prince Charles of Lorrain, to the Marshal Prince de Lobkowitz, May 10.

'We have had the good Fortune to attack, on the 9th of this Month, the Bavarian Troops, and to defeat them entirely; in which Action we have taken four Pieces of Cannon, five Standards, and above a thousand Prisoners. In one Word, this Victory is complete, and General Berlichingen, who commanded the Van, did all that was possible; and tho' the Ground was much to our Disadvantage, yet we have, God be praised, executed this Enterprize successfully, as you will learn more at large from your Son, who was constantly by my Side, &c.'

Hague, May 21. Yesterday the Post from Hanover brought the News of his Britannick Majesty's being arrived there on Friday last, at 11 o'Clock in the Forenoon, in perfect Health. The Proposition of Holland, for succouring the Queen of Hungary with a Body of 20.000 Men, and concerting with the Courts of England and Vienna the properest Manner of employing them, was finally and formally concluded at the Resumption in the Assembly of the States General last Saturday; and the Council of State are actually settling the List of General Officers who are to command them, among which none of the foreign Generals, lately taken into the States Service, are like to be comprehended, and pitching upon the Regiments which are to compose this Corps. His Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland set out from Amsterdam for Hanover last Friday Night; and Lord Carteret designs to do so from hence To-night. The last Letters from Madrid brought us the News of M. Vander Meer, the States Ambassador at that Court, being dead of a Fit of an Apoplexy; as did those from Stockholm, an Account of the Death of M. Rumpf, their Minister to the King of Sweden.

THOMAS, Lord Bishop of Sodor and MAN,
The FOURTH EDITION, with large Additions, and corrected throughout, of

THE KNOWLEDGE and PRACTICE of CHRISTIANITY made easy to the meanest CAPACITIES:
Or, AN ESSAY towards an INSTRUCTION for the INDIANS.
This Book is intended for the Use of all such Christians as have not thoroughly considered the Meaning of the Religion they profess; or who profess to know God, but in Works do deny him.
In several plain, short and familiar Dialogues. Together with Family and Private Prayers and Meditations, &c.
Printed for, and Sold by, JOHN OSBORN jun. at the Golden Ball in Pater-noster Row.
This Book, now much enlarg'd, improv'd, and corrected throughout, is design'd to recommend the Great and Saving Truths of Christianity, to such as have never yet heard of our Religion, and likewise to well-disposed Christians of ALL PERSUASIONS and DENOMINATIONS, especially the YOUNGER
PART of all Families.
It is wrote in a plain, easy, and familiar Style, suited to the Capacities of the most Unlearned and Ignorant; and the Author has carefully avoided all CONTROVERSIES and DIS-PUTES, as being too apt to distract the Minds of both Teachers and Learners, and divert them from attending to the important Doctrines of our most Holy Religion.

See Preface, p. 4. &c.
N. B. This Book, and the Bishop's Treatise upon the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, are recommended by the Right Reverend the Lord Bishops, and the Members of The Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge at home, and may be had upon their Terms by their corresponding as well as subscribing Members.

This Evening will be published,
By G. SMITH, Printer, in Johnson's-Court in Fleet-street.

THE EXPRESS; or, EVENING-GA-ZETTE. No. IV.
A Paper which will be publish'd every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday Evening, in order to give the Substance of the Foreign Mail, which being due those Days, arrive oftner upon them than on the other Days of the Week.

It will, no doubt, be acknowledg'd, that there has not been a Conjunction more critical than this, for many Years past, and that Englishmen, considering how deeply they are con-cern'd both in the Expence, and in the Event, must be impatient to know the Progress of Affairs abroad, while there are so many Armies in the Field, and such mysterious Negotiations in the Cabinet.

This Paper therefore will not only serve the Cities of London and Westminster, &c. with Intelligence on the vacant Nights, when no other News-Paper comes out; but those Towns especially, to which, by a late Regulation, the Post goes every Night, as Bristol, Bath, Gloucester, Oxford and Cambridge, Ipswich, St. Edmund's-bury, Norwich, Lynn, Yarmouth, and near a hundred other Places of Note, will by this EXPRESS be supply'd with the News both Foreign and Domestick, a Post sooner than they are now by the other Papers; and there will be a Blank on the last Page, to give Room for a Supercription.

To render it of the more extensive Usefulness, ESSAYS both in Prose and Verse, on Miscellaneous Subjects, will also be inserted Occasionally, for Entertainment as well as Instruction:
And any ingenious Compositions of Correspondents will be inserted, provided they have not too deep a Tincture of the Spirit of PARTISAN. With Regard to this, as well as to the Sects that are reckon'd Orthodox, or Heterodox, a Neutrality will be observ'd, but not so strictly as to refuse the Praise or Censure due to the Opinions, Facts, or Characters that eminently deserve either: Which Impartiality, how unfashionable soever it has been of late, as well as uncommon at all Times, will, 'tis hoped, be no small Recommendation of this Undertaking.

As there will not be a great Deal of Room for Advertisements, which are the chief Subistence of the other Papers, the Proprietors must rely entirely on the Sale of their's, to defray the Expence of it; yet they may have Reason to expect a few, from the great Complaint that many Advertisements are so postpon'd by some of the other Papers, that they are often kept a Week, or a Fortnight, before they are inserted.
